•MASON BEE HARVEST TIME – October is the month! Bee responsible and clean your cocoons to avoid spreading pests and diseases. Newly hatched bees in tubes must walk through other hatched or infested cocoons to emerge, and may pick up chalk brood spores, mites, beetles, and other pests along the way. These pests will then be transferred to flowers by infected bees where other bees unintentionally pick them up and spread them to their own nests. Cleaning cocoons in October is a very worthwhile and responsible part of raising Mason bees to keep them healthy and productive. It's fun seeing your Mason Bee venture increase year after year. There are videos on YouTube, and our Bee-Supplier has some info on his website www.itsallthebuzz.com or his FB page: It's all the Buzz.
